

Baby Jogging Stroller

Baby's first outfit

Fashion for newborns should be practically cut and reliably processed.

Clever opening options and a wide neckline make changing and diapering easier.

Tear-resistant snaps, especially at the shoulders and crotch, withstand frequent changes and make diapering and changing a breeze. Look for soft, skin-friendly materials because the skin of newborns is particularly sensitive. Especially in the first weeks, bodysuits and rompers are best suited, as they do not slip and keep the little one nice and warm.

Here you can find our list for your baby's first wardrobe. We always recommend buying sizes 50/56 and 62/68, so you are covered for the first weeks.
